ALTIN FUND ANNOUNCES STRONG ANNUAL RETURNS TO DATE AMIDST MARKET TURMOIL

ROCHESTER, MI – Altin Fund, a Michigan-based investment firm, has announced strong annual returns to date despite the current turmoil in securities markets and the financial sector.

As of mid-October, Altin’s primary fund is reporting over a 16 percent rate of return year to date. The firm’s recently-launched Institutional fund has performed even better, boasting over a 18 percent annual return to date.

“Of course, we are enormously pleased with the performance of the Altin Fund ,” states Altin’s Managing Member of General Partners Sebastian Lucido. “These real-world results stand as a testament to the strength and resilience of our investment strategies and methods, and validate our firm’s unique approach to the market. Recent weeks have provided a trial by fire for most of the investment firms out there, and a great many haven’t fared very well. It is gratifying to see our style of management, as embodied by careful analysis and duly-considered market moves made by our managers, have been validated by the marketplace. Our due diligence department is extraordinarily careful in selecting high-performance managagers, and they have performed brilliantly even within today’s chaotic market conditions. Our investors are profiting as a result.”

Altin's investment methodology is a managed futures "fund-of-funds" approach. The firm has carefully selected a divergent array of fund managers from around the world, analyzing the individual managers' investment philosophy, past performance, and other factors before incorporating selected high performers into the Altin portfolio. The firm continually readjusts its asset allocations within this select group in order to optimize overall performance and minimize risk.

"We pride ourselves on providing our investors with access to the best performing investment advisors in the marketplace today, unified within one common investment vehicle," Lucido says. "Our investors benefit from the concentrated brainpower of some of the most visionary managers in the world today. When you consider that we continue to offer robust returns even in the midst of what many consider to be catastrophic market conditions, the results of our approach appear to speak for themselves."
